Kid Lid™

Kid Lid is a line of accessories for laptops and other devices that protect electronics from young users, reducing frustration and increasing fun for both kids and adults.

Kid Lid's flagship protect board (patent pending) latches onto laptops to protect the keyboard against accidental keyboard pounding, application interruption, or worse! The board allows children to enjoy seamless content on the computer without the need for constant supervision. It promotes safe and healthy engagement with technology from an early age.

Kid Lid also offers a foldup version of the protect board that folds up for easy travel, allows simple access to the track-pad, and is covered in faux leather.

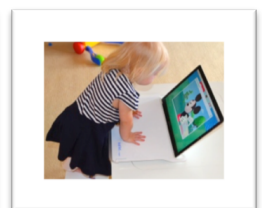

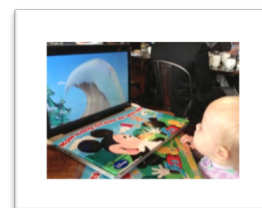

Kid Lid has a (patent pending) case for smartphones and tablets as well with a reversible piece to cover the home screen button, allowing children to access desired applications without the risk of switching to undesired ones, such as emails/texts/phone.

Kid Lid offers simple and safe solutions for children and devices, allowing parents to positively reinforce their children's interaction with technology without using the word "no."
